

Building Bylaw 3598

- Article 6.6 provides, at the discretion of the city, for reliance on inspection by professionals in lieu of inspections by the city. It states that the city may still do inspections, which is not clear. It appears to still require inspections when relying on professionals.
- Article 6.7 states that even if the city is relying on professionals, in accordance with Article 6.6, it does not have to accept LoA at the end of the project. It is not clear who is then responsible in these situations.
