Previous or present AIBC Board position(s) held Since 2017: Member of Council, Vice President, Vice Chair, Chair, Registrar & Treasurer(2x)

A. Expression of Interest

To achieve its goals and meet its fiduciary responsibilities, the Board's focus is on providing leadership, regulatory direction, and good policy governance in compliance with the Professional Governance Act, AIBC Bylaws and the Board's own policies.

In the space provided below, tell us about your interest in seeking a position on the Board, and how your professional and personal experiences may contribute to the Board's focus on providing leadership, regulatory direction, and good policy governance in the public interest.

(Max 300 words)

My experience as a Councilor and more recently as a Board Member has ignited a renewed desire to further improve our regulatory reputation in the eyes of the OSPG (government), community and with our peers (inter)nationally by delivering on our Strategic Plan. I am proud of my (minor) contributions toward these accomplishments and of the AIBC being regarded as a thought-leader. This is hard-won but well-deserved praise and, as we progress further with the PGA, I feel this is to be both celebrated and leveraged.

I'm no "Gord Richards" but I realize that I'm becoming one of the people around the table that is slowly building up institutional knowledge. I am willing to contribute this as we review and discuss policies and ideas. I feel this perspective can be especially helpful now...to perhaps provide stability and continuity as we transition to a new CEO.

I am committed to continue to give my best to the AIBC, the registrants and the good people of British Columbia because it is in the service to others that I have been able to find vocation. I have discovered both humility and fulfillment in the volunteer roles I have filled locally, nationally, and internationally.

I am a serial volunteer.

B. Selection Principles Part One: Professional Regulation

In the space provided below, describe your understanding of the role of the AIBC in regulating the profession of architecture in BC in the public interest. Your understanding may be gained from working with legislation, working as a regulated professional, and through your interactions with the AIBC and other regulators.

(Max 200 words)

The ability to self-regulate is a privileged gift - not a right - given to us by the good people of British Columbia.

It requires strong governance where the Board can "stick it's nose into things, but not their finger."

We REGULATE.
We. Do. Not. Advocate.

'nuff said.

C. Selection Principles Part Two: Competencies

A blend of competencies is required for the Board to achieve its goals and for Board Members to meet their responsibilities. It is therefore not necessary for each Board Member to have experience in every area. Describe your professional and/or personal experience in the areas listed below, which you would bring to the role of Board Member.

Competency
Risk Management: An ability to identify the nature and extent of internal and external risks faced by the organization and provide insightful direction in the management of those risks to mitigate harms.
My risk management, fiduciary and governance skills have been in constant use for the past 25 years. In all cases these were governance boards offering strategic & operational advice/direction to staff based on identified risk. AIBC 9yrs; CACB 3yrs; Canberra Accord 4yrs; Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Vancouver 14yrs; Rotary International 12yrs; L'Arche Board of Directors 3yrs; St. Thomas More Collegiate (STMC) Board of Governors 4yrs

Budget and Financial Management:

A sound understanding of the budget and financial performance of the organization and meaningfully contribute to strategic financial deliberations.

I do not claim to be a subject matter expert in finance but in by current role as Director of Property & Infrastructure for the oldest developer in the world (Catholic church), my role on many governance boards, a PM on major capital projects & my past role as AIBC Treasurer(2x) and managing principal in a publicly traded company, I have prepared many financial statements, reviewed many annual budgets and/or have participated in detailed discussions leading to their revision and/or approval.

Human Resources:

An ability to oversee a senior level executive, including executive performance monitoring and management, succession planning, and recruitment.

CACB Board of Directors (President and VP) evaluating the ED; STMC Board of Governors (Member) evaluating the President & recruiting the new one; AIBC Board of Directors (Chair & Vice Chair) evaluating the CEO and recruiting the new one.

Strategic Thinking:

An ability to contribute meaningfully and knowledgeably to strategic future-oriented discussions, provide insight and ask value-added and appropriately timed questions, and actively contribute to the development and review of policies that advance the long-term goals of organization.

I'm the guy in the room that sometimes asks challenging questions for the purpose of seeing clarity and building consensus. I believe that good conflict leads to good health. I've had the pleasure of developing and (more importantly) operationalizing many strategic plans for non-profits, large corporations, small practices, governance boards, First Nations, the Catholic church and a private school. I've also participated in developing a couple of such Strat Plans with the AIBC.
